

What to know before booking your IAFP Annual Meeting travel

1

When should I book my travel?

- As soon as you plan your arrival and departure days!
- Workshops and PDG meetings are excellent events for developing technical skills, networking with colleagues, and discussing ideas. These events require earlier arrival.
- Use the IAFP Hotel Reservation site to book rooms with the block discount!

2

Which days of the meeting should I attend?

- Workshops – July 25–26
- Welcome Reception – July 26
- PDG meetings, Ivan Parkin Lecture, Opening Reception – July 27
- Scientific Program – July 27–30
- Siliker Lecture and awards banquet – July 30

3

How should I travel?

Flying into Cleveland Hopkins International Airport (CLE) is likely the most economical route. A taxi, rideshare, or rental car get you to downtown, but there are also metro rail options.

For more details, visit foodprotection.org/annualmeeting/.

International Association for Food Protection®